HITECHLED warranty period: 5 Years (60 months)

All the terms indicated above start from the delivery of the Product(s) and any defects must be reported within the terms and according to the methods indicated in art. 7 of the General Conditions of Sale published on the website www.hitechled.it/download/.

- 1) The warranty is not valid if the electrical power values of the products in question, the climatic and environmental operating conditions described in the product labels, in the technical catalogue and in the technical specifications of the power supplies are not respected.
- 2) Due to the tolerances of LEDs and electronic components, the electrical and lighting data in the product specifications must be considered as a reference and therefore may be subject to variations. Furthermore, the luminous intensity, CRI and color temperature of the LEDs may undergo significant variations over time. This circumstance does not constitute a manufacturing defect.
